Summary

I began working in web development in 2022. I think of myself as someone who is responsible and organized. Always looking forward to the best opportunities in this software development community. In 2024, I actively participated as a Frontend developer in three real-world projects that all involved admin dashboards.

Experience

Work shop	2024
Fontend Developer	remote

During 2024, I took part in a workshop with my mentor. Every project involves admin dashboards, including CRM, CMS, and POS. These projects cover both Nextjs and React. We created the data and customer management systems for the POS project, which provides the e-commerce website and includes CRUD, sorting, pagination, and data input and output. As a good point, I had the opportunity to test using the actual API that is used in real-world web apps. Leading with my mentor, we could deploy these projects to the production stage. The bonus is being familiar with the Git collaboration workflow.
